Subtask #2

Objective	Subjective
✚ Plato: Social redeeming. “Art must imitate something”	✚ David Hume: Beauty is in the eye of the beholder
✚ Mimesis: (imitationalism) art represents, mirrors or creates illusion of reality	✚ Lyotard: contemporary art, art has shifted from aesthetics to a societal model
✚ Formalism: the most important thing of art is its formal quality	✚ Indian Art: rules of harmony and proportion create abstract representation of any feeling
✚ Pop Art: Art is to produce entertainment and to produce money.	✚ Abstract Art: represents unidentified and altered form of reality
✚ Schelling: Art must represent something from the world/nature.	✚ Post Modernism: question the existence of absolute, such as truth and beauty.

Subtask 4: Research, evaluate, and select a work of Art

The advertisement is based on a work of art or beauty/extreme makeover. This is a subjective view of art. We chose Fernando Botero's artwork and we're calling it the "Mona Lisa extreme makeover" advertisement. This would be considered popular art because it's produced primarily to make money. He is a post-modernist, Columbian artist. Botero uses this large people or "fat" figures. He is an abstract artist, choosing what colors, shapes and proportions to use based on intuitive aesthetic thinking.

Fernando Botero's Mona Lisa

Post-modernist artist

Is it art?

Yes because it's his own way of choosing his own colors, shapes, and proportions. He disproportionates the shape of Mona Lisa into a fat Mona Lisa, by using his own intuitive aesthetic thinking.

Is it art?

No because it's simply transforming the already existing Mona Lisa. Some people might take a side that it's actually a copy of an original artwork.
